

Gift Opening Comment Card

How to Show Appreciation for a Gift You Have Received:
When someone gives you a gift, often times they want to see your gratitude and initial thoughts when you open it. Here are some options for phrases to say to show your appreciation:

Hey Parents and Caregivers!

While it might seem obvious to you, sometimes our loved ones with ASD and neurodiversity are unsure how to react to receiving a gift.

It would be helpful to practice these phrases ahead of time so they know what each picture says and how to use it.

All you need to do is print the 1st page, read the top section, and you can practice/teach what each box says. You can even roleplay giving a pretend gift.

Video modeling can be a useful tool as well. Have someone video you acting out receiving a gift and using one of the comments. This video can then be played for them to have an even greater understanding.
